Head Coach Paul Rhoads

It was a storybook homecoming for Paul Rhoads. The Ankeny, Iowa native was introduced as the head coach of the Iowa State football team on Dec. 20, marking the return home for one of the nation's top coaches. Rhoads was born in Nevada, just 10 miles from the Iowa State campus. He grew up in Ankeny before going on to begin an outstanding coaching career.

Rhoads comes to Iowa State after serving as Auburn's defensive coordinator during the 2008 season where he led a unit that was ranked 15th nationally in scoring defense. Before that he spent eight seasons as the defensive coordinator at Pitt.

Five of his Panther defenses ranked in the top 30 in scoring and three were in the NCAA's top 12 for fewest yards allowed. He was named the best defensive coordinator in the Big East in 2007. His defense shut down the West Virginia attack, earning Pitt a 13-9 upset win over the No. 2 Mountaineers.

Rhoads was on former Iowa State head coach Dan McCarney's first staff, serving as the Cyclones' linebackers coach in 1995 and working with the secondary from 1996-99.

Rhoads is a 1989 graduate of Missouri-Western University with a degree in economics. He earned his masters from Utah State in 1991.

After graduate assistant positions at Utah State and Ohio State, Rhoads landed his first full-time coaching job at Pacific. He spent four seasons there before accepting McCarney's offer to work at Iowa State. Rhoads and his wife Vickie have two sons, Jacob and Wyatt. His father Cecil is in the Iowa State High School Football Coaches Hall of Fame.

STORY LINES

1. RHOADS RETURNS HOME

Ankeny native Paul Rhoads returns to his roots to take over the Iowa State football program. After successful stints as defensive coordinator at Auburn and Pitt, Rhoads was named Iowa State head coach by athletic director Jamie Pollard in December. A valedictorian at Ankeny High School, Rhoads was on Dan McCarney's staff as linebackers coach (1995) and secondary coach (1996-99) with the Cyclones.

2. RUSHING SUCCESS

The most consistent part of the Iowa State offense through two games has been the run game. Junior running back Alexander Robinson has continued to improve in his third season as the team's starting rusher. After leading ISU in rushing yards in 2007 and 2008, Robinson is back for more this season. He ran for 83 yards in the season-opener against North Dakota State and for 100 yards against Iowa. The effort was the fourth 100-yard game of his ISU career.

Quarterback Austen Arnaud's mobility and toughness give the Cyclones a second rusher in the backfield at any given time. Arnaud scampered for a career-high 78 yards against North Dakota State and added 56 more against Iowa.

Redshirt freshman Jeremiah Schwartz has rushed for 50 yards on 11 carries through two games, while backup quarterback Jerome Tiller is also a threat with his feet.

3. SIMS MAKES SPLASH

Junior college transfer David Sims has made an immediate impact on the field for Iowa State. The safety signed with Oklahoma out of high school before going the JUCO route. He has three interceptions through two games, returning one of his picks 41 yards against Iowa. After making eight stops, getting an interception and a tackle for loss against North Dakota State, Sims improved against Iowa. Along with the two interceptions he also had 11 tackles.

His presence has not just been seen on defense. Sims returned a kickoff 60 yards against North Dakota State and is averaging 28.7 yard on six returns so far this season.

4. TOP COORDINATORS

So much success on and off the football field can depend on the quality of a team's assistant coaches, and Iowa State has two of the game's best. Offensive coordinator Tom Herman and defensive coordinator Wally Burnham are no strangers to big-time college football, and both will be counted on to improve ISU units that struggled at times last season.

Herman, 34, came to Ames from Rice where he created an offense that can only be called prolific. Rice broke 50 offensive school records in Herman's two seasons there as the Owls finished in the top-10 nationally in passing offense, scoring offense and total offense. Not only was Herman's offense prolific, it was also careful with the football. His quarterbacks completed 65.6 percent of their passes and had an NCAA FBS-best touchdown-to-interception ratio of 48-to-7.

Burnham, 67, has had just as much success on the defensive side of the ball. Before joining the Cyclones, Burnham was defensive coordinator at South Florida for eight years, turning that unit into one of the nation's best. Thanks to Burnham's aggressive scheme, South Florida's defense ranked in the top 30 nationally in six of the last seven years. Last season the Bulls were ranked 10th in total defense and run defense. Burnham has 40 years of coaching experience to turn to, including a national championship while coaching at Florida State.

5. PASSING FANCY

Austen Arnaud is in only his second season as Iowa State's starting quarterback, but he is already cementing his name in the school record books. The hometown signal caller from Ames is already in the school's top-10 in career passing yards and completions.

Despite a lack of offensive consistency - Arnaud is in his third offensive system in his four seasons at Iowa State - he has proven very effective. In 2008, Arnaud threw for 2,792 yards and 15 touchdowns, completing 61.6 percent of his passes. His 247 completions were a single-season school record.

Five times in his 14 starts Arnaud has accumulated over 300 yards of total offense, including a 493-yard showing against Kansas State last season, tying the school's single-game total offense mark that had been set by Seneca Wallace. His 440 yards passing in that game set a school record, as are the 36 completions he threw against Missouri in 2008.

With weapons all around him and an explosive offensive scheme in place, those already impressive numbers should continue to climb.

6. DEPTH AT RECEIVER

Tom Herman's offense is predicated on having a large stable of athletic receivers. Fortunately for Iowa State, that key piece of the puzzle is already in place.

Senior Marquis Hamilton caught four passes for 97 yards in the season-opener, taking two of those receptions to the house for touchdowns. Junior college transfer Darius Reynolds leads the team with 13 catches. Receivers Jake Williams

7. JACK TRICE STADIUM FACELIFT

Under the leadership of Athletics Director Jamie Pollard, the home of Iowa State football is getting a face lift. Pollard has spearheaded remodeling project that included wider concourses, the renovation/construction of suites and the addition of restroom and concession buildings. The Jack Trice Club section on the stadium's east side was also entirely renovated.

8. EXPERIENCED SPECIAL TEAMS

Iowa State's strongest unit may well be its special teams. The Cyclones have stand-outs at punter, kicker and return positions. Punter Mike Brandtner averaged a career-best 41.6 yards per kick in 2008 and is currently fifth on the school's all-time punting charts with a career average of 40.6. Place kicker Grant Mahoney proved his worth last season as a true freshman, and has made all 37 of his extra points and 20-of-29 field goals with a long of 50.

Return specialist Leonard Johnson is a threat to take it to the house any time he touches the ball. As a true freshman, Johnson ranked 19th in the nation in 2008, averaging 26.4 yards per kickoff return. Johnson ran his way into the record books with an NCAA FBS record 319 kickoff return yards against Oklahoma State and is joined by Sims in the return game. The Johnson-Sims tandem ensures there is no safe place for opponents to kick the football.

9. SMITH ANCHORS DEFENSE

Senior Jesse Smith has been the anchor of the ISU defense from his linebacker position for the last three seasons. Smith has a nose for the football, as proved by his 15 tackles against North Dakota State. The former walk-on from Altoona, Iowa, has 191 stops, five forced fumbles and three fumble recoveries in his ISU career.

10. ATTENDANCE MARKS

Five times in its history, Iowa State has reached the 100,000 spectator mark in its first two home games, including this season. Iowa State's attendance through two games is 100,920. The highest attendance at the opening two games was set in 1981 when 109,776 people attended games against West Texas State and Iowa.

North Dakota State 17 Iowa State 34

Sept. 3 • Jack Trice Stadium • Ames, Iowa

AMES, Iowa -- Iowa State racked up 442 yards of total offense and Austen Arnaud threw a pair of touchdown strikes to Marquis Hamilton, as the Cyclones were triumphant in head coach Paul Rhoads' debut, defeating North Dakota State 34-17 in Jack Trice Stadium. The win ended ISU's 10-game losing streak. Iowa State began the Rhoads era on a high note, tallying seven points in its opening drive of the season. The Cyclones were successful on two third-down conversions in their 9-play, 81-yard scoring drive. Alexander Robinson scrambled for 18 yards on a draw play up the middle to give ISU an early 7-0 advantage. The Bison appeared on the verge of tying the game late in the first quarter after Pat Paschall squirted away for a 62-yard run to the ISU 18-yard line. Three plays later, quarterback Nick Mertens was closing in on paydirt, but ISU's Jesse Smith jarred the ball loose where it was recovered by Josh Raven at the 1-yard line, halting a potential NDSU score. The Cyclones increased their lead to 14-0 with 14:23 left before the half behind another impressive drive. This time ISU went 80 yards on 10 plays with Arnaud finishing it off with a 5-yard touchdown run. Robinson accumulated 45 of ISU's 80 yards in the scoring march. A costly turnover by the Cyclones helped the Bison get on the scoreboard for the first time. After NDSU recovered an Arnaud fumble, Mike Sigers rambled 42 yards to the ISU 1-yard line on the ensuing play. Paschall made it a 14-7 game two plays later with a 1-yard dive with 4:21 remaining in the second quarter. Both teams added field goals in the closing minutes of the first half, as the Cyclones went into intermission with a 17-10 lead. The Cyclones forced a turnover on NDSU's first drive of the second half, as David Sims picked off a Mertens pass that was tipped at the line of scrimmage. ISU made the Bison pay for the miscue, going 65 yards on six plays to push the lead to 24-10 with 8:31 left in the third quarter. Arnaud picked up a safety blitz and hit Hamilton on a slant for a 39-yard touchdown strike to cap off the drive. A crowd of

Iowa 35 Iowa State 3

Sept. 12 • Jack Trice Stadium • Ames, Iowa

AMES, Iowa -- Iowa State couldn't overcome six costly turnovers, as Iowa downed the Cyclones 35-3 in Jack Trice Stadium. Iowa intercepted five Cyclone passes and recorded four of its five touchdowns off of ISU miscues. Turnovers and penalties plagued the Cyclones in the opening period, as Iowa led at the half 14-3. ISU took an early lead when Grant Mahoney drilled a 46-yard field goal with 2:33 remaining in the first quarter. On the ensuing kickoff, the Cyclones tried an on-side kick, but the Hawkeyes recovered it inside Iowa State territory to give UI outstanding field position. A personal foul then gave Iowa the ball at the 12-yard line, and two plays later, Ricky Stanzi hit Brett Morse on a 1-yard pass to put Iowa up 7-3. Later in the second quarter, an Austen Arnaud pass was picked off by Iowa's Tyler Sash, who returned it 31 yards to the ISU 24-yard line. Stanzi then hit Derrell Johnson-Koulianos a couple of plays later from 18 yards out to give Iowa a 14-3 lead at the half. ISU was penalized seven times for 59 yards and had three interceptions in the first half. Another Cyclone turnover set up Iowa's next score. Alexander Robinson fumbled on the opening drive of the second half, setting up a 7-yard touchdown catch to Allen Reisner from Stanzi to make it 21-3 Iowa. Iowa's Brett Greenwood picked off Arnaud's fourth interception of the game to set up another Hawkeye touchdown. Brandon Wegher ran it in from 1-yard out to put the game out of reach at 28-3 with 4:27 left in the third quarter. Wegher finished the game with 101 yards on 15 carries to pace the Hawkeyes. Stanzi tallied 197 yards through the air on 18-of-34 passing. Sash tied an Iowa school record with three interceptions in the game. Robinson recorded the fourth 100-yard game of his career, rushing for 100 yards on 19 carries to steer the Cyclone offense. ISU defensive back David Sims intercepted a pair of Stanzi passes to give him three picks in the first two games of the season. A crowd of 52,089 saw the game.
